

Sunflower Seeds
February 1, 2007

BBBBRRRRRRRR!!!
Temperatures are dropping... to protect our equine friends during this cold snap, we will monitor turn-out durations. Please protect our canine friends as well if they're waiting in parked vehicles.

Phil is most appreciative of all the overwhelming support for his speedy recovery. We will continue to keep him in our thoughts and prayers for his return.

Please find enclosed a form for any updated personal information and return to the Welcome Center office at your convenience.

For board payment checks we have our new box located on the wall just inside the Welcome Center front entrance. As always, please include your horse's name in the memo section of all checks.

If you have used syringes or syringe needles please bring them to the office/welcome center for us to properly dispose of them.

WearN'Tear item tags are located in the viewing room where items should be placed for pick-up/drop-off every Tuesday afternoon. Cher asks that all items be clearly tagged with farm and owners names with cleaning and repairing instructions.

Again, thank you for your patience during construction in our efforts to make our facility even more enjoyable for everyone. On Thursday –

February 22nd, the Dressage arena will be closed for cupolas to be installed.

Please welcome our newest equine members at Sunflower Farms an imported Hanoverian gelding "McDreamy" and an Arabian "Frasier".

If you request special service(s) from the farm for your horse(s) such as body-clipping, medicating, etc... please speak with Jennifer to arrange.

Future Sunflower Seeds we'll be adding a Trainers' Hint of the Month and a Farrier's Fact. Any participants are welcome to give their ideas to Jennifer or Linda at the office.

Stay warm!!!!!!!

Chuckle corner....

ONLY HORSE PEOPLE...

Only Horse People, who are completely unorganized and always late, manage to be ready to enter at 'A' at precisely 9:23am.

Only Horse People would know why a thermometer has a yard of yarn tied to the end of it.

Only Horse People will take bandage scissors to their hair when they find it won't fit under a hard hat.